

Raising a concern

Don't turn a blind eye. If you are concerned about a potential victim of modern slavery or human trafficking, or a situation that is potentially exploitative, report it.

- Call the Modern Slavery Helpline on 08000 121 700 or submit a report online modernslaveryhelpline.org/report
- If you believe a person is being trafficked and is in immediate danger, you should call 999 straight away
- Report the crime to Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111 – an independent charity that gives people the power to speak up and stop crime, 100% anonymously
- You can also report suspicions of trafficking by calling 101 or visiting your local police station

Our work

Justice and Care works with the police and governments to identify victims of modern slavery and empower them to walk free. We pursue the criminal networks responsible and translate our frontline experience and expertise into change at scale; partnering with key stakeholders to strengthen the anti-slavery fight. ## Spotting the signs of modern slavery and human trafficking

We all have a part to play in the fight against modern slavery and human trafficking. Victims are often hidden in plain sight - when you are going about your day, here are some signs to look out for...

Appearance

- Indications of physical or psychological abuse
- Untreated injuries
- Looks unhygienic, malnourished or untidy
- May engage in substance misuse, such as alcohol and drugs

Behaviour

- Seems anxious, agitated or withdrawn
- Appears to be under the control of someone else and reluctant to interact with others
- Avoids eye contact, appears frightened or nervous of the police
- Has relationships that are not typical e.g. a partner who is much older

Home life

- Part of a group living in the same accommodation, who travel together
- Lives in unclean, cramped or overcrowded accommodation
- Few personal possessions
- Rarely interacts or appears unfamiliar with their neighbourhood or place of employment

Work life

- Always wears the same clothes and/or clothes that are not suitable for their job
- Dropped off/collected for work either very early or late at night on a regular basis
- Lives at their place of work
- Works very long hours, perhaps every day
